

CONCILIATE
THE WORKERSIs the Attitude of the Russian Government Now

REASONABLENESS URGED

Minister of Finance Announced Today
That Legislation Favorable to the Workers Would Be Enacted, Causing Surprise.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 9.—The government attitude toward the workmen is daily becoming more conciliatory. Another meeting between the manufacturers and the minister of finance was held today, at which the manufacturers declared that they will reject the workmen's demands unconditionally. The minister of finance, to their utter surprise, urged them to be reasonable, and make whatever concessions were possible. He announced that there would be legislation enacted in favor of the workmen.

This change of policy on the part of the government has alarmed the employers, who have decided to meet and discuss the possibility of granting some of the concessions demanded.

STRIKERS OUT AGAIN.

Orders For Troops to Leave for Far East Countermanded.

Warsaw, Feb. 9.—Most of the strikers who resumed work are out again and the authorities are nervous over the impending renewal of the strike. At Kiel the orders, which were received for the troops to proceed to Manchuria have been countermanded and the troops will remain for the present.

STRIKERS LOST.

Funds Became Exhausted and They Were Forced to Capitulate.

Berlin, Feb. 9.—The strike of the 200,000 miners in the Rhine province which has been in progress since January 9, has terminated in a victory for the mine owners. The strikers' funds had become exhausted and they were forced to capitulate.

A CRISIS PASSED.

Turko-French Differences Are Now
Amicably Adjusted.

Constantinople, Feb. 9.—The Turko-French crisis arising from the Porte's decision to negotiate a loan in Germany and order a new armament there, before settling the French claims, has passed. The Turkish minister of foreign affairs today called on the French ambassador at Constantinople and declared that Turkey would not only satisfy the French demands with regard to the Syrian railways, but would order part of the new artillery in France.

DRANK CEDAR OIL
TO END TROUBLESMrs. G. M. Dyer Died This Morning at Northfield, After Having Been Sick With Bright's Disease.

Northfield, Feb. 9.—Mrs. G. M. Dyer, formerly Ann Farr of this place, died at 8:55 this morning in convulsions, as the result of drinking cedar oil, probably with suicidal intent. When the woman drank it is unknown. She died at the home of her mother, Mrs. Rufus Farr, where she came to visit. The husband will come from Maine soon. The woman had been sick with Bright's disease and this is thought to have unbalanced her mind.

HEARD BY BIG CROWDS.

London Evangelist Predicts a World Wide Movement.

Montpelier, Feb. 9.—Bethany church has never been crowded as it was yesterday to hear the London evangelist, the Rev. William J. Dawson. There were three meetings, forenoon, afternoon and evening. Dr. Dawson also met about a hundred ministers from all over the state in a conference over the work. In his address yesterday afternoon he said in the opening that he had strong conviction that the world was at the beginning of a great movement that will be earth wide. Except for this and a direct call to evangelical work he felt he had received he would never have left his church, his family and his country. Under the circumstances he rejoiced that he could take part in this great forward movement.

Local Mail Boy Hurt This Afternoon.

John Tabor, the boy who drives the mail team, was quite severely injured this afternoon. While waiting to get the mail in the postoffice, he was suffling with Assistant Postmaster J. J. Goodwin. Tabor was accidentally thrown to the floor, and the back of his head hit the corner of one of the mail cases. A gash about three inches long was cut in his head and he was insensible for a few moments. He soon revived and was able to go to his home where a doctor was called to sew up the gash.

JOY A. GODDARD.

Birthday of the Preceptress, Miss Isham,
Cause for the Occasion.

A delightful evening was spent at the seminary last evening by teachers and students in celebrating the birthday of Miss Isham, who for ten years has held the position of preceptress of Goddard. Miss Isham was invited out to supper by a friend who had been taken into the secret, and upon her return at eight o'clock, she found to her entire surprise, a birthday party assembled in the parlors. An hour or more was passed in playing games.

Shortly before ten o'clock a procession was formed to the dining room, led by Miss Isham and Mr. Pike. Here three tables were placed to form wings, leaving a large space in front for the company to be seated. On the center table was the birthday cake with a circle of lighted candles about it, the decorations of that and the table being in white and red. After light refreshments were served, by members of the under classes, Mr. Pike, president of the senior class and toastmaster of the evening, made a pleasant little speech of welcome. The first toast was "The Cake," responded to in verse by Miss Robinson, after which came the ceremony of cutting the cake by the guest of honor.

Other toasts were responded to as follows: "To Miss Isham," Miss Calef; "Quarter to Ten on the Boys' Side," Mr. White; "Quarter to Ten on the Girls' Side," Miss Briggs.

A poem written by Mr. Stone for the occasion was read by Mr. Hollister. A toast, "To the Seniors," was given by Mr. Brown of the junior class; "To the Juniors," Miss Lane of the senior class; "The Study Side of Forty," Mr. Butler; "Miss Isham's Influence at the Thompson," Miss McLean. And last Miss Kendall, with a few appropriate words, presented Miss Isham a nice chafing dish from the students.

After this all gathered about the organ and sang some of the rousing Goddard songs, and so brought to a close one of the pleasantest gatherings ever known at Goddard.

HARDLY GAVE THEM PRACTICE.

Hot Airs of Montpelier Easy Marks for the O'Learys.

The Hot Airs of Montpelier came up to Alexander's alleys last evening, and gave the O'Learys a little practice in the bowling line. One would expect as the season gets further advanced, that all the teams in the league would improve; but such is not the case with all of the teams in the Intercity league, as was shown by the Hot Airs last evening, when they permitted the O'Learys to take three strings, and at the close could boast of but 2141 as a total, while the Barre team rolled 2668.

Noonan rolled high single of 236, and Trenoweth had the best total of 563.

LET THE EAGLES SCREAM.

For They Were Defeated by a Montpelier Team.

Members of the Eagles hastened to their homes after their game with the Dewey's Colts at Montpelier last evening, with their coat collars turned up and their hats pulled over their eyes so that no one would recognize them—for they had actually been beaten by the Montpelier team!

This is the first game between Barre and Montpelier teams to be won by the latter.

The totals:
Dewey's Colts	753	751	780	2284
Eagles	725	749	805	2279

ANOTHER TIE GAME.

Red Men and F. of A. Cribbage Teams Played Even.

An even split was the result of last evening's cribbage contest between the Red Men and F. of A. teams, each team winning out at four tables. The result by tables was as follows: Mackie and Milne, F. of A., defeated Milton and Stevens, R. M.; Evans and Williams, F. of A., defeated Sangster and Sangster, R. M.; Borgh and Stevens, F. of A., defeated Webster and Lynde, R. M.; Patterson and Veale, F. of A., defeated Scott and Ross, R. M.

Funeral of Maria Tabor.

The funeral of Mrs. Maria Tabor, who died Tuesday night, was held at 12 o'clock today from the home of her brother Edward Choate of South Main street. Rev. A. M. Bradley of the Universalist church officiated. The body was then taken to No. Montpelier for burial.

LIQUOR RAID
WAS ILLEGALSays Supreme Court in Casselini-Booth Case

DECISION THIS MORNING

Court Holds That Warrant for Search for Liquor Must Be by Officer or by a Citizen — Important Ruling.

The Vermont Supreme Court today handed down an important decision in the Casselini-Booth case from the city of Barre. The latter is an officer and several months ago participated in a search for liquor, at which time a carload of stuff was taken from the car. About a score of men put in claims for the liquor, declaring illegal search and seizure. To expedite matters only one case was taken from the local justice court to the supreme court, that of Casselini. The court holds that the warrant must be signed by a public officer or a citizen as complainant. As Charles Zankowski, who signed it, was neither public officer nor a citizen, the court finds that the liquor was illegally seized. H. C. Sturtevant and W. A. Lord of Montpelier and Richard A. Hoar of this city were the lawyers for the plaintiffs.

This afternoon Mr. Hoar stated that suits will be brought against all the parties concerned in the raid and the trial and spilling of the liquor.

HOUSE WAS BURNED
EARLY THIS MORNINGDwelling in Montpelier Owned by George Mills of Barre, Was Unoccupied—Loss Well Covered by Insurance.

Montpelier, Feb. 9.—The two-story dwelling house at the corner of Summer and Vine streets, owned by George Mills of Barre, was practically destroyed by fire early this morning. The loss is placed at $4,000. Mr. Mills was insured for $3,000 in the Union Mutual Fire Insurance company. The house was unoccupied, and in spite of the rumor that the fire was the work of the "fire bug" the firemen think that the flames started from the furnace, as there was a fire to keep the water pipes from freezing.

The fire was discovered by Morris Atkins, whose residence was nearby. Mr. Atkins looked out of his window shortly after one o'clock this morning, and saw the flames breaking out of the house. He called up the central telephone office, entered called up the police station. Officer Durkee got the call and legged it for the scene of the conflagration a half a mile away. By that time the fire had got heavy headway. The officer rang in the alarm from box 64 nearby and something was the matter, as the alarm rang only once. It was enough to rouse Second Assistant C. S. Whittier, but the driver of the fire horse slumbered on. The former hammered away at the latter's door and finally roused the driver. Then to call out other firemen a second alarm was turned in from box 15. The firemen got to the fire with their fighting blood up. But the flames had too much of a start, and the house was all ablaze. At four o'clock the fire was pretty well out, but the house is nothing but a shell. There was little in the house except a few carpets, etc.

Mr. Mills, the owner, who works in George Stratton's stone shed in Barre, was in the house last evening looking things over with a view to making repairs. He left at half past nine to go to Barre. There was a fire in the furnace. Dwight Mason saw smoke pouring from the chimney at half past eleven o'clock, but there was no sign of fire at that time. E. C. Bennett's family moved out of the house last week. The keys were in the hands of City Sheriff Bancroft, who has charge of the house.

NICKSON IN THE COOP.

Colored Man, Nickson, Alleged to Be Connected with Plainfield Escape.

Oscar Nickson, the colored man who is alleged to have tried at the point of a revolver to force money from Dr. D. B. Smith at Plainfield May 14 last, and who was arrested at Berlin, N. H., by Deputy Homer D. Camp of this city, was lodged in Washington county jail yesterday afternoon, when he got there he decided to have a legal counsel. So the hearing was continued. Bail was fixed at $500, which the prisoner could not furnish, and jail was the only alternative. He will secure Gates & Wilson of Montpelier to give him counsel.

INVESTIGATION IS ON.

Overseer of the Poor Was First to Be Examined by the Committee.

The investigating committee, N. D. Phelps, G. H. Anker and Frank F. Cave, recently appointed by Mayor Barclay to look into the accounts of the overseer of the poor, began their work last evening, at the city assessors' room. The hearing was private. Overseer Smith was allowed to give his side of the situation. The auditors will then be asked to state their position, after which an invitation will most likely be extended to any other officials or citizens to appear before the committee.

Remarkably Good Showing for Such an Enterprise — Reports of Directors and Treasurer Presented at Meeting of Stockholders.

At a meeting of the stockholders of the Barre Granite Manufacturing Co., last evening, it was shown by the treasurer's report that all stockholders will receive a dividend of from 85 to 90 per cent of the amount each paid in on their stock.

This company was organized about a year ago to arrange for, finance, and attend to an exhibit of Barre granite at the World's Fair at St. Louis, and those subscribing entered the project without any expectation of receiving any direct returns on the investment, and the announcement at this meeting was a pleasant surprise.

President Wm. Barclay presided at the meeting, and Wm. Marr, secretary, read the report of the trustees who have so ably managed the exhibit from start to finish. These men are Wm. Barclay, F. G. Howland, Wm. Alexander, D. M. Miles, J. E. Smith, Wm. Marr, H. J. M. Jones, J. A. Cross, Frank Burke, D. E. Ryle, and George Gray. The directors' report is as follows:

The directors of the Barre Granite Manufacturing company, herewith submit the following report of the doing of the board since its appointment, December 29, 1903.

After making choice of its officers, the first business taken up was the selection of designs for the work to be placed on exhibition. This we desired should be of a representative character showing the adaptability of Barre granite to all kinds of monumental work. Valuable service was given in this selection by others outside the board of directors, which assistance we do not desire to overlook. In this choice we had eight monuments, six tablets or grave markers, four vases and two balls. We showed statuary, different styles of carving, plain hammered and all polished work, together with the round turned work, polished and hammered.

The aim was to have all the different shades of Barre granite shown to their best advantage, and great care was taken in selecting the designs, with this end in view, as well as to have the proportions as nearly correct as possible. As soon as any of the designs were chosen, we sent out tracings to from twenty to thirty different dealers, whom we believed could and would make us a monument that we could look upon with pride, and say: "This is what can be done with Barre granite." As our time was very short we had to have the work started in order to have it there when the Fair opened, so we bound every dealer by a written contract, specifying the quality of work, stock and the time in which it had to be completed. We also appointed a sub-committee of five to inspect all of the work when it was finished, to see that the contract had been fulfilled, and decided that at least three of that committee must be present when inspection would be made. We also appointed a railroad committee to look after the transportation of the work, to arrange for the best rates to be had, and to secure some assistance from the railroad companies. We had been considering the matter of advertising through a booklet, and endeavoring to decide on something that would be attractive and would give a description of Barre and it wonderful industry at the same time. In this we received valuable assistance from the Rev. M. Mitchell, in writing up the material for the booklet, to whom and to others who loaned us photographs and cuts, our united thanks are due. You will perceive from the booklets you have received, we began with the town or city, and then showed some views of dark and light quarries in their boulder and sheet forms, also the methods of splitting large stones and of shipping them when they go beyond the size the railroad companies will allow to be shipped in the ordinary way. We also showed an inside view of the modern and improved style of a manufacturing plant, together with some fine pictures of monuments and monuments that have been made of Barre granite. Altogether, we think we have succeeded in getting out something that for advertising purposes will bear comparison with anything to be seen in the St. Louis Exposition.

The next problem we had to face was the disposition of our work at the other end. A problem that was difficult and delicate to handle, everyone who thoroughly understands our situation will readily admit. It was our purpose to make the most of this exhibit that we were in accomplishing the end it was made for: that of showing Barre granite and what can be done with it. At the same time we did not want to squander or mispend a penny of the company's money, or to use a cent that was not needed for that purpose. Neither did we desire to give any occasion for offense, so we believed that the most beneficial way of handling our exhibit was to have some retail dealer whom we could put reliance on, to take care of it for us during the time the Fair lasted, and to relieve us of it at an agreed price when the Fair closed. To provide against jealousy among the retail dealers and to use them on an equal footing, we wrote to from twenty to thirty different ones, asking if they felt disposed to entertain any such proposition, or if they cared to make any to us. To these letters we had a few replies. Some did not make any answer, and we came to the conclusion that we could make the best deal with the Rosebrough Monument Company of St. Louis, and an agreement was made with them whereby they assumed the expense of preparing the space, of setting up the work, distributing our booklets in a judicious manner, and of properly looking after the exhibit during the time the Fair lasted. They agreed to pay us $8,125.00 for the work, while we agreed to give them the right and privilege of showing their designs and photographs, and of distributing their business cards. We also agreed to deliver the work on cars at the Fair grounds, to bear half the expense of switching charges to the space and also half the insurance.

We believe the Rosebrough Monument Company have lived up to their agreement to the full extent. Some of your directors have seen the exhibit at the Exposition, and are willing to testify that it has been well handled and properly cared for. We know we have received some criticism in the methods we have taken in managing this exhibit, but if we had followed the suggestions offered we are persuaded there would have been just reason for criticism, and we fully believe such a course would prevent us from securing subscribers should we ever contemplate making another exhibit at some future date. On October 24, we received notice that our exhibit had been awarded the Grand Prize, the highest award we could get, which was pleasing to all of us. But only a short time after, we had our attention called to a letter in the Monumental News, criticising our methods, written by a retail dealer, who evidently did not understand the situation. And in justice to Messrs. Rosebrough and ourselves, we think we should say a word in rebuttal. In the first place, Mr. Rosebrough was given positive instructions not to tell who cut this or that monument, or whose stock the different pieces were made of. As this exhibit was not gotten up to advertise any individual, or any firm, but Barre granite only. The reason for this is obvious. There is no justice in allowing one man to advertise his business at the expense of another. We all put money into this company, but we could not all have gotten a single stone to furnish, even if we had split up the work and tried to divide a portion to each subscriber who is in the granite business. So, to do justice to all, we decided that Barre granite only should be advertised through the medium of this exhibit, and that whatever benefit might be derived should be shared equally by the whole community.

As to the other phase of making our exhibit more extensive and sending a man from Barre to care for it, some people must think the citizens of Barre have lots of money to spare. Had we followed this course, it would not only have cost us much more money here, but the expense at St. Louis would have been heavy, and the chances are that we would have been liable to have had the whole output on our hands at the close of the Fair, and been at the mercy of the retail dealers to relieve us of our work at their own price. For, if we had tried to sell to any one who was not a retail dealer during the time the Fair lasted, we would have received severe censure from the retail men.

Notwithstanding, one of our esteemed editorial papers has seen fit to publish an editorial decrying the way the exhibit has been handled, and pronouncing it an utter failure. We fail to see how we could improve on our methods if we had to start anew. Every detail was considered carefully, so that we would not give any cause for friction likely to arise from exhibits of this kind. At the same time no pains were spared to make the exhibit attractive, and to show the merits of Barre granite to their best advantage. We feel that we have secured our purpose and earnestly hope that good results may be realized in the days that are to come.

The Report of the Treasurer.

The report of Treasurer F. G. Howland the company received:

Sale of 427 shares, 60 per cent
of face value,	$6,405.00
Barre Railroad,	100.00
Booklets sold,	15.28

Total,	$6,520.28
Expended for exhibits, transportation, booklets, etc.,	$6,755.31

Or, $235.03 more than receipts. At the close of the exposition, the exhibit was sold to the Rosebrough Monument Co., for $6,125, to be paid part in April and the balance in July. When this is received, and the $235.03 is paid, there will be a balance to divide among the stockholders, amounting to between 85 and 90 per cent of the amount each paid in on stock.

Both reports were accepted, and a vote of thanks was extended to the directors for the able manner in which they conducted the exhibit for the shareholders.

When this had been voted, President Barclay addressed the stockholders present, suggesting that it would be a good idea to donate a percentage of the money to a proposed soldiers' monument, but the suggestion did not meet with much favor and was dropped.

The Subscribers to the Exhibit.

The list of stockholders who subscribed and paid 60 percent of their subscription are: Moore & Owens, Jas. S. McKay, John Gallagher, F. E. Langley, B. W. Hooker & Co., J. BARRE CITY
ELECTIONIts Approach Brings Out the Usual Crop

OF POSSIBLE CANDIDATES

United Effort in Ward 3 in Behalf of N. A. McIver for Alderman — Possible Candidates for Mayor.

With the city election less than a month off and caucuses but two weeks away at the farthest, there is beginning to be heard some talk of candidates, and of the March election. That which creates the most talk, is possible candidates for mayor, and so far is confined to three names (for the regular citizens' caucus choice). These are Mayor Wm. Barclay, ex-Alderman R. S. Currier, and Alderman John Robins, with an occasional reference to ex-Alderman Abram Mann.

Mayor Barclay has stated to The Times that he has not yet decided whether he will be a candidate for renomination or not, but intends to settle the question yes or no by Monday next.

Messrs. Currier, Robins and Mann are talked of, but there is no official declaration from any one of them that they are candidates.

While it is expected a "workingmen's" ticket will be put in the field, no particular man is yet mentioned for this nomination. The socialists will probably nominate Wm. Scott.

Candidates for the aldermanic nominations are cropping out in the different wards and new names are being suggested daily. In ward 1 there have been to date three names mentioned: Alex. Milne, Charles T. Campbell and J. F. Smith.

In ward 3 the members of the building trades unions—the carpenters, the painters, the masons and the plumbers have decided to put forward the name of N. A. McIver as a candidate to succeed Alderman Frank H. Burke. Alderman Burke is also expected to be a candidate for renomination. The socialists may nominate either Richard Grigg or John Anderson.

In ward 5 Alderman Albisetti will probably be a candidate for re-election and it is rumored that ex-Alderman Samuel Kingston may also enter the field.

In ward 6 Alderman Adie will be a candidate if he is wanted. Although he has been on the board but a short time, he is proving a good member of it.

On the board of school commissioners the terms of Alex. Gordon, ward 1, and G. Herbert Pape, ward 3, expire this year. Mr. Pape will not be a candidate for re-election.

What promises to be an interesting feature of the coming municipal campaign will be the fight to secure a no-license vote in Barre. The closeness of the vote last season encouraged the no-license people to believe they can carry the city for "no" this year, and they will make an earnest endeavor to do so. A "no" vote would make Barre a strenuous city another year and there would be something doing all the time.

DAN. McDONALD ATE CROW.

Paid Election Bet With Dinner to Gunning Club Members.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. McDonald entertained a party of 20 at dinner at their home on Perry street last evening, the company comprising the members of the South Main street Gunning club and their wives. The dinner was in payment of an election bet by Mr. McDonald, who lost on Roosevelt, and who was then compelled to make his own meal last evening of crow. He ate it as if he relished it. Although the election was held in November, Mr. McDonald wouldn't give in that Roosevelt & Fairbanks were elected until it was officially declared yesterday at Washington, and it was for this reason that the dinner was not given before.

The spread was a fine one and was greatly enjoyed by all—even by Mr. McDonald with his dish of crow.
